Right in the Middle...

Last week, I spent 5 days in Washington D.C with nearly 600 students at the regional CCC Christmas Conference.

The week focused on the “Whole Life Worship” – that is dedicating one’s whole life, not just Sunday mornings, to glorifying God in every action. Between powerful speakers every morning and evening, students were asked to consider investing a summer away from home learning to share their faith more effectively, as well as the possibility of full-time vocational ministry.

New Beginnings...

The conference ended New Year’s Eve; instead of going home, I drove to Pittsburgh to a party held by Christina, who worked closely in Campus Crusade with me before we graduated. It was great to catch up with other EUP grads who are pursuing God’s leading.

Greg and Megan Robertson drove from North Carolina where he attends seminary at Campbell University. The 1st student president of CCC at Edinboro, Greg now wants to invest his life as a pastor.

Christina's fiance, Shawn Tischler, who had only attended Crusade at Edinboro sporadically, was there as well. While he never finished school due to some difficulties, he's reaching people around him at work through his own experience and a new commitment to Christ.

Tammy Eade was also there. She graduated with me with the same degree but with a focus in journalism, and was recently accepted to Asbury Seminary. She hopes to eventually publish a magazine that helps pastors’ kids (“PKs”) like herself deal with the strain that can often be put upon them to be perfect.

Every End is a Beginning...

With the Spring semester on the horizon many students will be preparing for graduation in June and their careers and lives that will follow.

Every spring Campus Crusade holds a conference for Juniors and Seniors called “Life Options” to help them explore their possibilities in the marketplace and vocational ministry. It also helps to prepare those that will go on to a marketplace career to reach those they will work alongside with Christ’s love.

Even if their time on campus is over, what they learn in those 4 (or so) years can provide for a lifetime of serving God!

Your Partner in the Gospel,

Please be praying for:

- Those who attended the Christmas Conference, that they would give of their whole lives to glorifying God.

- Those who graduated in December, that they would take with them what they learned from CCC in school.

- The Seniors who are discovering what God has in store for them after June.

Jeremiah 29:11 - ”For I know the plans I have for you,’ declares the LORD , ‘plans to prosper you... to give you hope and a future.’”
